YEARS OF GOLF PACKAGING MAKES

The Girls at Pam's have been assisting golfers with their golf trips for 32 years and we are the best golf packager in Ocean City. Our customer service is unmatched, our booking bonuses are unbeatable and we truly care about our clients.

"A great experience! Everything was seamless. From the first day arriving at the golf course on the way in, to the last day of playing. We arrived at the golf course on Friday and everything was ready for us. When we arrived at the hotel, all our things were ready to go in a nice package with no waiting. Keys and room assignments were all set and our rooms were next to each other with an adjoining door which made our downtime and planning easier. I look forward to planning another trip in the fall and having additional golfers participate. I also want to mention how nice it was for Pam's to create a golf package based on our budget requirements. Thanks Pam's for a great golf experience."

Tom S., April 2021

"In a few words I can say nothing but good things about Pam's Golf! Excellent organization from the date of booking to our departure. Our experience in OC was excellent. The Golf Villas at River Run were first class and met our needs perfectly. The Hideaway Restaurant at River Run was excellent. Great customer service is hard to find these days but you guys killed it! All in all it was a great experience and rest assured that when we come back to OC next year your team will be getting a call. Thanks for organizing a memorable trip."

Gary S., May 2021

"Every golf course we played, when we mentioned our name and that we booked through Pam's, would just say, 'Of course, come right this way please.' Our trip was done very well."

Kevin P., March 2021

"The Girls at Pam's put together a great package for us and helped me with all of the additions and subtractions of golfers along the way. While I have attended other trips to Ocean City in the past, this was my first time running a trip and my first time dealing with Pam's. Both experiences were easy with the help of everyone at Pam's. We are already planning for another trip for those who missed out on this one. Looking forward to it with the help of the Girls at Pam's."

Ron H., March 2021

"Could not have had a better trip... all thanks to Pam's Golf!"

Joe M., March 2021

"The best! Thank you! My buddy went to the hospital with a mild heart attack during our trip and his length of stay was not known and the Girls at Pam's were able to provide me with an extra night at River Run at no charge so when he was released I would be available to pick him up. Everything else for our trip was on point. I just can't say enough about my first time golfing in Ocean City. Thank you again Pam's!"

David D., September 2021

"Love Pam's Golf! Love the Ocean City/ Delaware beach area! Not sure why anyone from the North East would bother to go to Myrtle Beach when the identical experience is so much closer to home."

Rich D., September 2021

"All the Girls at Pam's that I spoke with were extremely helpful, pleasant & very professional! Spreading the word with all my golfing friends that Pam's Golf is the only way to go! Several golf buddies had gone to Myrtle Beach for 20 years but now are considering Pam's Golf! Awesome trip and we are already planning a trip for 2022. Pam's Golf is awesome & would highly recommend to anyone interested in a golf trip to OCMD!!"

Terry B., September 2021

"The Girls at Pam's were awesome and they worked to get us the best price and courses for our trip and they accomplished that! We had a great time!"

BAYSIDE RESORT

12021 NORTH HAVEN DRIVE, SELBYVILLE, DE 19975

“AMERICA’S TOP 100 GREATEST PUBLIC COURSES” - GOLF DIGEST

“#1 DELAWARE COURSE, AMERICA’S BEST COURSES YOU CAN PLAY”
- GOLF WEEK

Jack Nicklaus firmly believes that if he and his golf course design team have created enough variety, enough interest and enough spice so that you – the golfer – won’t see it all the first time you play it, then they have done their job.

At Bayside Resort Golf Club, Nicklaus and company nailed it – with a little help from Mother Nature.

With its setting along the Assawoman Bay, the layout actually needed very little land manipulation to make it work. Its creator – the greatest golfer of all time – realized that from the get-go. Fortunately for golfers everywhere, he stayed the course. As Delaware’s first Nicklaus Signature Golf Course, this Carl M. Freeman facility, now managed by Troon Golf, is located just outside of Fenwick Island off Route 54 and features gorgeous views along the coastline. The Golden Bear designed this venue to highlight the unspoiled beauty of Bayside’s natural setting.

Nicklaus took the existing landscape and maximized the site’s sheer natural beauty by developing a test of golf that will have you convinced it has been around forever. The 7,545 yard Bayside course plays from salt marshes to meadows to woodlands and includes exciting views across the water to the Ocean City skyline. It is truly three courses wrapped into one. The course, since its opening, has racked up numerous awards and has grown into a favorite among local golfers. Though it can be a bit intimidating the first time across it, those who return seem to uncover little by little the keys to success. Bayside provides all the demands a Nicklaus course naturally requires, though it is advisable to play it from the appropriate tees.

The opening four holes require accuracy and lead you past one of the most spectacular views on the course overlooking Assawoman Bay and stretching out across to the Ocean City skyline. The remainder of the front nine, which does not return to the clubhouse, moves back out into the openness of the meadows before returning to the woods. You must play around a lake on the seventh hole and then across a combination of everything on holes eight and nine.

The back nine once again opens with marshland views over the bays. Eventually, wooded boundaries and a series of water hazards lead you back to your final destination but not before several curves take you past historical sites and dramatic vistas.

Inspired by the surrounding salt marshes, meadows and magnificent woodlands, the course provides a trio of uniquely different golf experiences rarely found in one course. This pristine and exquisitely manicured masterpiece is the ultimate golf test. After you have finished testing your golfing skills, continue your extraordinary experience by sampling the best in casual dining in their new Signatures Restaurant.

If you prefer to stay where you play, ask Pam's about their exceptionally appointed condos, townhomes and single family homes!

BAYWOOD GREENS

32267 CLUBHOUSE WAY, LONG NECK, DE 19966

“#1 BEST IN STATE” - GOLF DIGEST

There’s no secret as to why Baywood Greens, with its arboretum-like setting, is often called the “Augusta of the North.” The theme – and the legend – will only grow with time.

But for now, golfers can enjoy the meticulously manicured Woodside and Waterside nines that showcase eight timbered bridges and 27 acres of man-made ponds, two tunnels and more than 300,000 flowers, plants, shrubs and trees. These two existing nines create two entirely different experiences for the golfer, with each hole having its own distinctive character. Though the top-notch conditioning is the same, the back nine has a different feel in that there’s more water, a little more elevation change, a few islands and more vibrancy in terms of flowers on certain tee boxes. The 18th tee, in fact, was described by one player as being, “the prettiest I’ve ever seen.”

Despite all of the fancy touches, the original 18 holes at Baywood Greens are based on solid golf principles. The initial layout and design of the Baywood Greens course was done by renowned architect, Bill Love (formally of Ault, Clark and Associates). Final design was completed by land sculptor extraordinaire Larry Dewitt and owner/developer Robert Tunnell, who turned original hand sketches into a definitive work of superior artistry.

Baywood’s simplistic elegant design isn’t one to be taken lightly. The generously large, flat fairways, created to fit the overall terrain, will test your skill as they wind through and around created lakes, mounds, and some 70 strategically placed bunkers.

If you are to succeed at Baywood Greens, you must learn to manage the front nine. And if you aren’t afraid of water (why else would you come to the beach?) then the back nine can be a little easier. With so much going on both visually and architecturally at Baywood, it can be difficult to concentrate on your game the first time you tee it up at this memorable championship course.

One thing to note while playing Baywood, you get a free drop out of any flowering area. But be aware, the abundance of sand and water on the layout can more than make up for that reprieve.

BEAR TRAP DUNES

7 CLUBHOUSE DRIVE, OCEAN VIEW, DE 19970

"100 MUST-PLAY COURSES OF THE MID ATLANTIC" - GOLFSTYLES

As long as the ocean continues to touch the sand, there will be treasure hunters searching for worldly riches. For those looking for bounties of the golfing variety, look no further than Bear Trap Dunes, located just a few miles inland of some of the East Coast's most popular beaches.

Bear Trap Dunes, designed by Rick Jacobson, a former associate of Jack Nicklaus and a Midwesterner who found more than his share of riches in coastal Delaware, is the best 27-hole golf course on the Eastern Shore and boasts a 4-star rating from Golf Digest's Best Places to Play. Jacobson has described Bear Trap Dunes as "visually unique because of its ample use of sand dunes — adhering to the coastal area's natural terrain."

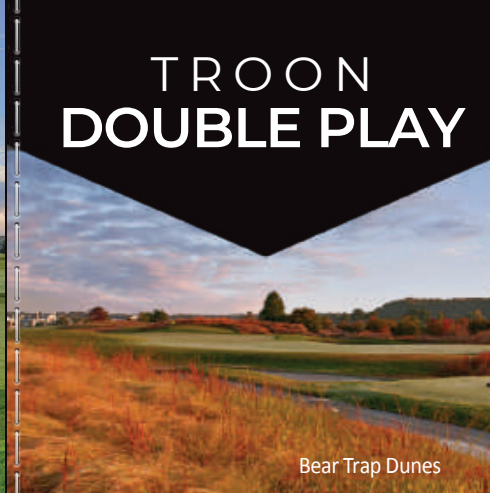

In essence, Jacobson took a flat, featureless piece of farmland and turned it into a unique inland dune concept. What he came up with was a golf experience that winds through wild, twisting bent grass fairways, natural dunes and impeccably groomed oversized greens. Of course, this means you must stay out of the sandy buffer areas to be rewarded. Those who keep the ball in the fairway at Bear Trap Dunes will have many scoring opportunities. Those who don't will find it much more difficult to conquer.

The visually apparent narrowness and the constantly bending fairways are the biggest factors with which to contend on the three distinct nines at Bear Trap Dunes, appropriately named Grizzly, Kodiak and Black Bear. No matter which nine you are tackling, there always seems to be some sort of a hazard to avoid, including grassy hollows and water. But what Jacobson did on many holes was put trouble on one side of the green, while allowing plenty of room on the other side to bail out. Most of the landing areas have plenty of space; it's just the way they are positioned that makes them visually intimidating — a mark of a truly great design.

Bear Trap Dunes Golf Club offers one of the area's most unique and memorable golf experiences on the Eastern Shore and features all the hallmarks of Delaware golf. Winding bentgrass fairways lined with native wetland grasses drifting into natural sand dunes. With four strategically placed sets of tees, Bear Trap Dunes is sure to beckon golfers of every skill level. Play this Carl M. Freeman facility, now managed by Troon Golf, and it will quickly become a favorite. The clubhouse offers the perfect space to unwind after your round. Relax in the comfortable lounge, grab a delicious meal in the open-air restaurant, or let the management know in advance and they will reserve the Dunes Room for your large group.

And if your group prefers to stay where they play, ask The Girls at Pam's to reserve one of their luxury condos, townhomes or single family homes!

EAGLE'S LANDING

12367 EAGLES NEST ROAD, BERLIN, MD 21811

“BEST IN STATE” - GOLF DIGEST

Built in the wetlands at the eastern edge of the mainland by Dr. Michael Hurdzan, Eagle's Landing is a beautiful seaside paradise with sweeping vistas of land, water and sky. The best way to describe this ecological wonderland is fragile – to the point where golfers are asked to abandon any balls hit into the wetlands and to leave nature undisturbed.

Of course, it is this challenge of keeping your ball in play around Eagle's Landing that makes it so memorable. Still, Hurdzan doesn't torment you with thoughts of balls lost to the local wildlife all the way around this circuit, though it does have a way of building to a crescendo at the end.

The first six holes offer only glimpses of what is to come in the way of wetlands. Still challenging, the mixture of four lengthy par fours along with a meaty par five and a mid-range par three has the potential to spoil a round without one ball being sprayed into the marsh.

It is at the seventh hole where its creator introduces the coastal wetland, the natural beauty of the land and wildlife will begin to distract your mind from your game. A sharp dogleg left par five, this hole requires not one but two shots over marsh with the ultimate target being a shallow green.

For the remainder of your round, it is difficult to evade the wetlands. The tenth hole is almost completely guarded, the 11th encounters wetlands down its left side, and the 17th and 18th holes are surrounded by tidal impacted areas. The tees on 17 are actually built on an island in the marsh that goes on to bisect the 18th fairway around the 150-yard markers.

In all, Eagle's Landing's 18 holes meander through the saltwater marshes of the serene Sinepuxent Bay and overlooks the unspoiled beauty of Assateague Island National Seashore and boasts one of the most scenic and challenging golf courses on the Eastern Shore. This beautiful seaside championship golf course is the first certified Audubon cooperative sanctuary in Maryland and features 2,000 lineal feet of bridging with peninsula-type tees, a wide variety of links style and marsh land holes of rolling Bermuda fairways and bent grass greens.

Since opening in 1991, this masterpiece has received numerous awards from all of the major golf publications.

11501 MAID AT ARMS LANE, BERLIN, MD 21811

HOST OF GOLF CHANNEL'S "THE WAR ON THE SHORE" - AMATEUR TOUR MAJOR

This horse-to-course legend began to materialize with the modern routing of the Man O'War Course by lead architect Joel Weiman. That effort was followed up a few years later by the development of the War Admiral Course, a joint venture between Weiman and former U.S. Open champion Jim Furyk (who consulted on the project). Suddenly, the saga was complete. Together these forces have strung together a 36-hole golf wonderland that is a crowning jewel of the Ocean City golf inventory.

To add to the truly spectacular golf experience, the GlenRiddle Golf Club, a division of Ruark Golf, features a practice range with a dual grass tee area, chipping and putting greens, full locker room facilities, fully stocked pro shop and is also home to the GlenRiddle School of Golf and Ruth's Chris Steakhouse. How's that for a prestigious closing act?

Man O'War - As the legendary horse it is named after, Man O'War has fast become a champion along the Eastern Shore. Located on the GlenRiddle Farm just five miles west of Ocean City, this gem of a course will provide a truly spectacular golf experience and the supreme challenge for the seasoned golfer, while offering those new to golf an opportunity to fall in love with the game. Man O'War plays 7,163 yards from the back tees and challenges golfers with distinctive double fairways, large greens, pot bunkers, and sand dunes. To preserve the beauty and significance of the historic racetrack, used to train so many champion thoroughbreds, designer Weiman incorporated the track as a strategic cross hazard on three holes. These pure, windswept links of golf also feature bentgrass tees and greens and Bermuda fairways.

War Admiral - The tradition of excellence continues at GlenRiddle Farms with War Admiral, the sister course to Man O'War. Designed by Weiman and Furyk, this course offers beautiful tidal marshes and mature tree-lined fairways. War Admiral has now taken its place in history, just as the thoroughbred that inspired it.

Named after the 1937 Triple Crown winner, the course, in the words of Pennsylvania native Furyk, "is reminiscent of golf's golden age of architecture with a classic layout that is both challenging and enjoyable." Furyk, who vacationed in Ocean City as a youngster, went on to say, "I think we've provided a player's perspective to the design, as well as ensuring playing characteristics that will be exciting for both the low handicappers as well as recreational golfers."

War Admiral stretches 6,889 yards from the back tees and is the ultimate challenge for the scratch golfer, while the huge oak trees that provide a bit of shelter from the coastal winds will increase the playability for golfers of all levels.

"WE LOVED THE MAN O'WAR LAYOUT, VERY OPEN, BUT STILL CHALLENGING. THIS COURSE HAS A SCOTTISH LINKS FEEL AND IS VERY SCENIC WITH FUN HOLES. WE LOVED THE DRIVING RANGE AND SNACK BAR RIGHT AT THE START OF 1ST HOLE, IT WAS VERY CONVENIENT."

PAM'S PLAYING TIP

On Man O'War, you can pull out the driver on any par four except for Hole 17, and if the pin is in the back position, go easy or the ball will roll off the back and end up in the water. Be ready to bring your "A" game when playing War Admiral as you will be facing forced carries, water hazards, and fast greens. You'll need lots of target golf shots to score well.

2022 PLAYGOLF GROUP LEADER SPOTLIGHT

PAM'S GOLF... WHAT A GEM

BY GEOFF HAUCK

Our golf trip "soup to nuts was superb!" We were pleased that Pam's did everything possible to accommodate any issues no matter how big or small that arose while planning our trip. We had one guy that had to cancel late, but Pam's reached out to us and helped us settle the problem with great efficiency.

Our group appreciated all the COVID precautions that Ocean City, the restaurants, our hotel and all the courses had in place during our stay that made our group feel safe and at ease. There were precautions like sanitizers, wipes and social distancing available but were not forced which was very accommodating! One of the great things about golf is that being socially distant from others during your game is a given!

We stayed at the Holiday Inn Oceanfront on 67th Street. This hotel had a tremendous staff and feel of hospitality and fun! The restaurant at the hotel – Touch of Italy was uber good from breakfast through last call... great food and top-notch service!

Day 1 - We played the Gary Player designed River Run and it was such a beautiful, enjoyable golf day! The conditions were very nice, and we were able to play 27 holes! Thank you River Run!

Day 2 - We encountered a Nor' Easter at Pete Dye & P.B. Dye designed Rum Pointe! With the weather situation, Pam's helped us move up our tee times to an earlier time. We played an epic round with sustained 35 mph winds with rain that felt like it was "coming up from the ground"! We moved like warriors and got to experience a top-notch golf course that was groomed and dressed like the Augusta of the North. We all want to play Rum Pointe again without pseudo hurricane weather!

Day 3 - We played the 36-hole facility GlenRiddle Complex (home to Man O War / War Admiral). The boys literally played golf from sunrise to sunset... Great shots - great food - great "shots" and a few incidents! I am amazed I remember the day! Such a wonderful experience! It was a grind and not easy, but we all powered through.

Championship Sunday Halloween 10/31/21 - Baywood Greens, designed by Ault, Clark & Associates, was a nice drive and great recommendation from Pam's that we should play this track! This course was gorgeous, top notch and 50 minutes closer to home! Would love to attack Baywood on the first day of a road-trip instead of a "get out of town" encounter! The after party we had at Baywood was apropos... money was exchanged - great play was celebrated and memories etched in our minds to talk about for years to come!

After our party, a few of us got moving and met at the Smyrna Diner and had a much deserved yummy dinner! It's a really nice place with some tasty big meals! Get the Broiled/ Fried combo Crab Cake Platter! It's a great little place to stop on your way in or out of Ocean City.

Thanks again & kudos to Pam's Golf, the Holiday Inn Oceanfront and all the golf courses and staff for throwing out the red carpet for our group! And major thanks to my "Familia Golf Group", too many head scratches and laugh induced headaches to count during our golf trip!

“BEST SOUTHERN DELAWARE GOLF COURSE” - METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE

World-renowned architect Arthur Hills, the creator of Heritage Shores located in Southern Delaware, has a simple design philosophy.

“Go with what we are given,” he said. “If it’s flat, then the course will tend to be flat. This piece of property was generally open, but our philosophy is to go with what we are given and not try to contrive something that’s obviously unnatural or forced.”

Ideally situated on the way to Ocean City, Heritage Shores offers an exciting, interior links-style golf course and a Nantucket-inspired clubhouse for a comfortable and inviting retreat with every visit. Experience this Hills designed championship golf course stretching 7,005 yards from the back tees — providing golfers of every ability scenic surroundings and unique challenges.

Heritage Shores features a signature design with water flanking a majority of the holes. It is a wonderfully created links impersonation with plenty of room on each hole and forced carries held at a minimum. Still, the course is no pushover. The ponds, natural wetlands, some existing woodlands and artistic bunkering make up a design that is both memorable and exciting. With an array of strategically incorporated bunkers and undulating fairways, coupled with the water obstacles, this par-72 layout will challenge and test every player’s ability.

“RANKED #80 IN THE COUNTRY FOR TOP 100 PUBLIC GOLF COURSES IN THE US” - GOLF MAGAZINE

“RANKED #2 IN THE STATE OF MARYLAND” - GOLF MAGAZINE

Test your skills at the Links at Lighthouse Sound, an exquisite Arthur Hills designed 18-hole championship course overlooking the Ocean City skyline and the St. Martin River. For years prior to its opening, developers continually promised that the site was one of the best left on the East Coast for golf. Turns out, they knew what they were talking about. The architect's goal from the beginning was to create a course that allowed Mother Nature to show off her beauty.

Now known as the “Pebble Beach of the East,” this course features marsh, river and bay views on 15 of the 18 holes. Though it doesn't have the high bluffs of the Pacific Ocean to roam above, the Lighthouse Sound routing does cozy up to the Assawoman Bay in a dramatic fashion all its own.

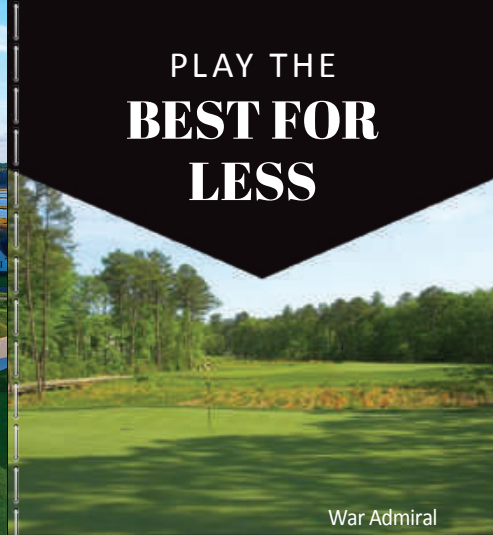

The first three easily playable holes at Lighthouse Sound will boost your confidence and prepare you to take on the sturdy par-4 fourth hole, where you will need to carry to a spot where you are still left with a good poke to a green protected by more marsh. As you step up to the 5th tee box, the course's “signature hole”, you will be awestruck by its outward beauty and spectacular views of the Ocean City skyline. This par three plays from 89 to 218 yards directly over the marsh, to a green surrounded by water on three sides and is the 5th most challenging hole on the course, especially when the wind is blowing. In addition to some exquisite views of Ocean City, the front nine also features the only consecutive holes in America playing to the same double green. The par-5, 2nd playing 508 yards and the par-3, 3rd 190 yards play to a 16,000 square foot green set along a tidal marsh of the Assawoman Bay.

From the bayside side holes on the front nine, you will ride across America's longest cart bridge, stretching nearly 1,500 feet, to the pristine marsh side. The back nine takes shape as it plays along the St. Martin River and winds through the ancient trees and marshland that have been undisturbed since the beginning of time. Still, there are enough breaks in the trees to provide wonderful water views over the rivers and bay, though the only thing keeping these holes from a course built back in the last century are the large greens and wonderfully sculpted bunkers.

"3.5 STARS, BEST PLACES TO PLAY" - GOLF DIGEST

Ocean City is a land of wonderful coastal terrain, great golf ambience and many big-time designers/design teams. That tradition continues to this day at Nutters Crossing Golf Club – the course that serves the public as the perfect choice on your way in or out of town. The Ault, Clark and Associates championship par-72 design is just 35 minutes from Ocean City.

Nutters Crossing completed a renovation in 2017 that converted hole #7 & hole #18 to par fives and added almost 400 yards in length to the course. The course also added a set of senior tees to each hole increasing the number of tees per hole.

Beautiful lush fairways roll over gently sloping hills at Nutters Crossing, as you play past eight water hazards and a maze of more than 50 bunkers, to rolling greens built to USGA specifications. With water lurking on no fewer than a dozen holes, even the most advanced player will be severely tested. Consistently recognized as one of the area's best-conditioned courses, Nutters Crossing offers two distinct layouts: the front side, which is wide open, gives players the chance to let out a little shaft on the tee, while the back side trails through woodlands and will provide a test of accuracy all the way home.

Nutters Crossing offers a lighted practice range and full service restaurant with a recently remodeled bar overlooking the ninth hole. For your next golf outing come and experience one of the Eastern Shore's best-kept secrets.

SIX TIPS TO HIT IT BETTER INTO THE WIND

/ BY BOB FAGAN

Playing into the wind affords challenges both directionally and distance-wise. The wind will exaggerate any side-spin and the wrong technique may cause shots to balloon even more up into the air.

Here are a few quick tips to help you improve when playing into the wind.

1. SWING EASIER

Take a club or two less and swing easier for hitting a full shot puts more spin on the ball and though you may have enough distance to reach your target, it won't pierce wind as easily and will tend to go wayward more quickly. Swing with ease into the breeze!

2. DON'T TEE IT TOO LOW

When playing a driver, for the same reasons, don't tee the ball too low as some suggest. That encourages both mishits and downward ones that apply spin and cause the ball to balloon losing distance.

3. TOP NOT BOTTOM

Shoot at the top of the flagstick and not the bottom of it. Against the wind, the ball will come down and stop faster.

4. CHANGE IT UP

Tom Watson liked to lower his target shoulder and raise your back one. Approach your shot particularly with your irons as if you are playing off of a downhill lie, and play it back in your stance. With a short iron, you may even play it behind your rear foot. I have always positioned the ball as such, but I used a lot of hand action. It wasn't until Jack Nicklaus told me to take the hands completely out of the shot and play it from that back position moving only the triangle of my arms and shoulders – and no hands that I achieved a consistently piercing trajectory (This was one of the best tips I've ever received and completely improved my wind game).

5. FINISH LOW

Normally we would want a nice, high full finish to complete our golf swing, but to hit it low into the wind, it really helps to abbreviate the follow-through around waist-high or just a bit higher.

6. MONITOR TEMPO

Monitor your tempo to assure smoothness and encourage good balance. Making a solid strike through the target does more to achieve success in the wind than probably any other single factor.

OCEAN CITY GOLF CLUB

OCEAN CITY
GOLF CLUB

"NEWPORT BAY NAMED 8TH BEST COURSE IN MARYLAND" - GOLF ADVISOR

The granddaddy of public golf on the Delmarva Peninsula is Ocean City Golf Club located only 10 miles from all the action of Ocean City and minutes from Assateague Island National Seashore. Though Eastern Shore golf actually can trace its roots back to the 1930's when vacationers played the original Ocean City Golf Club (a nine-holer that operated from 1924 through 1936), the current club was established in 1959 on a prime piece of property down the road. Until the 1980's, it carried the golf load in the booming resort town.

Today, Ocean City Golf Club has two fantastic 18-hole champion courses. The original Seaside Course was built by William Gordon. The Bayside Course was originally routed by Russell Roberts, but is now known as the Newport Bay Course after a redesign by traditionalist architect Lester George.

The great thing about Ocean City Golf Club is that golfers can enjoy two very different golf experiences. The original course still maintains its traditional values as it plays similar to the way it did back in 1959. The Newport Bay Course, meanwhile, is the club's modern alternative.

The Seaside Course - Established in 1959, the Seaside course is one of the classic layouts on the Eastern Shore and has consistently been one of the most popular courses for members and golf travelers for almost 50 years. The beautifully maintained, traditional design parkland course features wide open bentgrass fairways, classic tightly guarded bentgrass greens, invigorating woodlands, strategically placed bunkers and fountainhead ponds. The course was named by Golf Digest as one of the best places to play, earning a 3.5-star score. You are invited to play this fine course and experience golf as it is meant to be played.

The Newport Bay Course - This award-winning track has been a popular choice for golfers of all abilities and became an instant favorite amongst golfers since its redesign in 1998. While playing this challenging course, you will experience golf at its finest with a wide variety of scenic views that accompany well-manicured fairways and greens. With breathtaking views of the surrounding wetlands and the relaxing vistas that are prevalent throughout your round of golf, your golf experience is bound to be special. Golf Digest ranked Newport Bay as one of the best places to play, earning a high 4-star rating.

Before or after a round of golf, you can enjoy cocktails and lunch at the club's large full service restaurant.

Mental toughness spells doom

Trying to be “mentally tough” may be hazardous to your golfing health or any peak performance.

I recently queried a collection of more than one hundred coaches, sports psychologists, and athletes on what they define as “mental toughness” and what one should do to attain it. I received almost as many different variations on the definition, and less than one out of five of these “experts” could offer a method as to how to attain the state. Yet, all seemed to agree that becoming mentally tough is desirable to achieving golf success. I disagree – at least to a point.

Why would I disagree with such an illustrious group? First, if these “experts” couldn’t agree on what the term means, imagine the confusion in the mind of the golfing public? What is your idea of being mentally tough? Chances are, we like they, will have different perspectives with none of us being right or wrong. The term is just plain ambiguous.

I read and hear so much about how players, or anyone for that matter, should be mentally tough. It’s as if these pundits are turning the word into an action verb – something you should be doing. I believe that appearing mentally tough is an adjective that reflects the sum result of things that actually have nothing to do with the mental game, but rather the spiritual one. Mental toughness is not something you do, but a by-product of other forces at work.

The concept of “golf as a mental game” has really taken hold the past forty years. Feel players such as Ben Hogan or Jack Nicklaus have suddenly been redefined as “mental players” and an entire library and cadre of coaches have sprung up using them as prime examples. I maintain that the essence of these players “toughness” was embedded in their spirit, not their thoughts or strategy. Nicklaus, himself, even has shared with me that he agrees with my interpretation and not theirs. Nicklaus further confided that he thinks it is spiritual fortitude that was the basis for Tiger’s initial success as well as his own, and yes, that mental toughness is merely a by-product.

Toughness connotes a fight or struggle – a fear-based focus. I believe that true growth in golf and beyond occurs when your awareness is highest, you are open to quick and decisive adjustments, and one practices the art of allowing – and you fully love and embrace what you are doing. Fighting, struggle, and toughness are the opposite of allowing and surrendering to the process. The nose-down, harder you try, fight, struggle, think, concentrate harder attitude prescribed by many in the sports psychology community actually sabotages peak performance. In fact, anyone who has ever performed “in the zone” will quickly remember that they weren’t trying or thinking much at all.

You play golf with “play” being the operative word. A cluttered mind full of mental game instruction interferes with letting our natural ability shine and execute golf shots. A sound strategic approach to each season, tournament, game, hole, or shot is also crucial, but every swing and mental thought had to be validated first by your spirit. If you don’t ask for what you want, if you don’t believe in what you want, and you don’t take persistent inspired action to achieve it, all this so-called “mental toughness” in the world won’t matter. And you must be in a state of allowing to then be able to receive and enjoy what you want.

How do you develop your spiritual side – the feeling versus thinking side? First, you master the game’s little details one at a time in many little bites and not one big fast gulp. Then you develop a process of focus and appreciation on the task at hand, target focus, trust, and execution. You ask yourself empowering questions such as “What’s my strategy, what’s my target? How am I going to hit this shot?” You keep working this process through winning and losing, successful and unintended efforts, and engrain it at the habitual level. You believe, trust, stay aware, and surrender to your process. Then you detach from the outcome. All the while, there is nothing about fighting, struggle, or trying. You are simply doing and being. In this manner, you minimize doubt and fear, the two great golf destroyers. While others are in the mentally tough-fight mode, you are in the spiritually serene place of knowing and embracement, secure with your preparation and process, in which your spirit solidifies both your swings and decision-making, like the very best players down the stretch run.

Finally, you find things in the process and the game to be grateful about. This is where you convert from fear to a love-based action that puts all these aforementioned steps into high gear.

Mental toughness is the end result of faith, belief in yourself, your goal, and process, and an acute awareness and attention to the only thing you have any control over – the present with a underlying joy. When you attend to those factors, some may term you “mentally tough,” but it really is because you are spiritually strong and consistent. Discard those sayings, thoughts, and associations with mental toughness and search within for your spiritual strength upon which the physical and mental games are set.

PLANTATION LAKES GOLF COURSE

“2021 TOP 5 COURSES IN DELAWARE” - GOLF WEEK

Located in the heart of the Eastern Shore, Plantation Lakes Golf & Country Club opened the completed 18-hole championship golf course in May 2020. This Semi-Private facility and its membership welcomes the public and offers a pristine Arthur Hills designed golf course at an unbeatable value. “The course is strategically routed along the wetlands with a number of natural sandy waste areas and presents a fun and fair challenge for every playing level.” said Shawn Smith, ASGCA Principal, Hills & Forrest International Golf Course Architects.

The links inspired layout is lined with naturalized fine fescue areas and unique bunkering. The pristine layout offers meticulously groomed fairways and greens, genuine service, and resort-style amenities that are sure to please and put you totally at ease and on top of your game.

Plantation Lakes measures in at 6,661 yards with a course rating of 72.3 and slope rating of 139 from the back tees... but don't let the yardage fool you. With rolling topography and some of the firmest, fastest greens around, the visually challenging layout will surely test golfers of all levels and is quickly becoming one of the area's most enjoyable golfing experiences. By utilizing a set of tee combos, the par-72 layout offers eight different tee combinations ranging from 6,661 yards to 4,589 yards with USGA slope ratings from 139 to 112.

The 10th & 11th holes are two of the local's favorites!

The par 4 tenth hole features a uniquely shaped tree that golfers must decide how to evade during their tee shots while avoiding the marshland beyond and the par 3 eleventh hole's green sits on an elevated mound. Peering from the blue tee box 141 yards away, a player has to take it on faith that there will be a place for his ball to land if it clears the massive bunkers in front.

Warm up your game on their state of the art practice facility with complimentary balls as part of your playing experience. The practice facility consists of a full length driving range with seven elevated greens, three large grass teeing areas, and an ultimate tee line system with built in tees. A nicely sized short game area with two greenside practice bunkers and large putting green are located adjacent to the practice facility.

The naturally beautiful, uniquely challenging layout and friendly staff at Plantation Lakes will provide a true country club experience. It's a terrific choice to play on your way in or out of Ocean City.

PAM'S PACKAGING TIP

Looking to start or end your trip with a bang? Plantation Lakes is a fantastic choice to play on your way in or out of Ocean City.

LOCATION

Located in Millsboro, DE just off Route 113 and approximately 25 miles (40 minutes) from Ocean City. Nearest courses are Bayside Resort, Baywood Greens, Bear Trap Dunes and the Rookery.

PAM'S PLAYING TIP

The key to unlocking a low score at Plantation Lakes is having a well-balanced golf game. The visually challenging golf course will test your tee shots but places a premium on iron approach shots into the firm, fast greens.

Course knowledge teaches golfers to leave the ball below the hole (in some cases even off the green) for the best chance at par or better.

RIVER RUN GOLF CLUB

11605 MASTERS LANE, BERLIN, MD 21811

"4 STAR PLACES TO PLAY" - GOLF DIGEST

God and nature provided the "River." Gary Player gave it the "Run". Together, they formed a powerful design team. Gary Player's favored bump and run style of play is showcased at River Run, his 6,705-yard masterpiece. Today, 18 swashbuckling holes later, River Run has evolved into truly one of the legendary golf experiences in the Ocean City area.

It all starts on the first hole, a short-but-testy par-4 where a healthy opening allows you to run the ball up onto the green despite it being surrounded by more than a dozen mounds and an array of sand bunkers. That trend continues throughout the design, though you have to be in the right positions to take advantage of the Player strategy. Hit your ball a little off line, and you'll be firing over bunkers or across mounds that will require a deft touch to land the ball close to the hole.

Spectacular views, first-class conditioning and a skillful design all combine to make River Run a legendary experience. A friendly warm-up on the par-35 front nine, modeled after the links style found in Scotland, is followed by a sterner test of majestic tree-lined fairways and natural marshes found on the homeward nine. Make no mistake, the front nine is not lacking in drama with holes like the downhill par-3 fourth hole, playing its entire length over water at 222 yards from the back tees, and the 384-yard, par-4 seventh, a slight dogleg right with water in play on both the drive and second shot.

Player's magical touches also show up big on the long par-4 ninth, where its 4-club deep green rises to its perch overlooking the St. Martin River. With pot bunkers burrowed out of the massive mounding along the side, this offering will give you the feeling that you have been transformed thousands of miles away to a true Scottish links design.

A course of rare natural charm and playability, River Run's contrasting back nine rolls through wooded terrain. Like the front nine, it gently harmonizes with nature's beauty. This nine's signature hole can be found at the 13th. This par-4 requires a precise shot off the tee to leave you with a lofted iron approach shot over marshland to a shallow green guarded in the front and on two sides by marsh and water

End your day with a visit to the Hideaway Restaurant at River Run serving some of the finest dishes with views of the scenic St. Martin River. Care for some steak and sizzle? Don't forget to ask The Girls at Pam's about River Run's famous Free Steak Dinner promotion.

THE ROOKERY

27052 BROADKILL ROAD, MILTON, DE 19968

On the surface, the name “Rookery” can be quite mystifying. What does a bird nest or breeding ground have to do with golf? Well, when you play on a course featuring natural hazards, bunkers, bulk-headed ponds and a blue heron ‘rookery’ that exists between the fourth and fifth holes, you’ll be guaranteed a sky-high adventure.

The Rookery, a contemporary classic that opened in 2000, is set between swelling mounds to the west and a heron rookery to the east. 2004 Senior British Open Champion Pete Oakley and course superintendent Chris Adkins designed the flagship course to be challenging but fun for all levels.

The intricate routing features well-conditioned bentgrass greens, tees and fairways that will add to every golfer’s enjoyment.

Come check out the Rookery on your way to or from Ocean City, the course is located just minutes away from the Lewes and Rehoboth Beach area!

PAM’S PLAYING TIP

Golfers score better when they are not in the rough, because on this course the rough is very healthy and thick.

LOCATION

The Rookery is located just outside Rehoboth Beach, DE, 32 miles (45 Min) from North Ocean City. Closest courses are Baywood Greens, Bayside Resort, Plantation Lakes, Bear Trap Dunes and Heritage Shores.

Gold	4875	71	63.3	105

In my coaching, one of the first things that clients ask is what else can they do to improve their golf other than practice and improve their swing? I have researched this question and have come up with this summary of fourteen key things that will renew, refresh, and enhance your inner game as well as spill over into your outer game. Because golf so closely mirrors life, each and every one of these keys applies to your life as well.

1) Gratitude – Exercising gratitude is the quickest, most effective and powerful way to affect mood changes for the better. Identifying things to appreciate can be done in an instant at any time and anywhere. Doing so has the dual benefit of quieting your internal chatter while helping you overcome fear. It takes you into the state of “now” where you can play your best golf.

2) Forgiveness – Exercising forgiveness is actually a gift to yourself regardless of whether it is directed toward someone else or you. This is a great relaxing agent that can instantly decrease stress. It cannot be exercised too often.

3) Nutrition – Many Americans are literally digging their graves with their teeth. Processed fast foods may quell hunger, but they don't add vitality to your life or golf game. While I am not a nutritionist, I have listened to many experts and the overwhelming consensus is that you should be sure to drink plenty of water, avoid tobacco and caffeine, eat natural vegetables and fruits, avoid fried and processed foods. And finally, you probably need to take supplements to compensate for the nutrients that are no longer present in our food.

4) Exercise – Nutrition and diet mean little if we do not accompany such with exercise. Stretching and exercise are paramount to enjoying your golf game and allowing for any chance of improvement.

5) Try new things in the game. The enjoyment of exploring and experimenting, be it playing new courses, learning different shots, playing with different people, varying weather conditions, playing different formats, etc. offers new opportunities for growth as well as keeps the game fresh and interesting.

6) Breathing – When we breathe, we energize and become alive. The very low frequency vibrations, fear and anger, are characterized by an imbalance of breathing. Anger, in particular, is usually accompanied by weak inhalation and forced exhalation. Our objective should be first an awareness of our breathing. Secondly, you will want to practice a relaxed, controlled cadence of belly breathing. You should practice this at least once a day for ten minutes. Enhanced breathing can improve our emotional, physical, and mental health, and therefore our success at anything.

7) Time – Give the gift of time to yourself every day. Doing so validates your purpose, goal, and signals to your inner self or subconscious that you are worth it. Time is also a sign of commitment. The amount of time can vary, but the practice of devoting some time daily is important.

8) Pampering – Be kind to yourself. Being kind to yourself not only feels good, but it also has the benefit of informing our habitual self or subconscious that we are good, worthy people.

9) Celebration – Find things and events about your game to celebrate. Even the worst rounds can be cause for a “pat on the back” if you maintained your composure, continued to embrace the moment, and learned anything from the experience.

10) Play – Your golf, even at a competitive level, is intended to be playful and joyful. That doesn't mean that a “grinder” can't continue to concentrate and work hard, but they should also remember to take themselves lightly. While practice is good and necessary, don't become a “Ranger Rick” to the exclusion of playing the game.

11) Education – Reading, learning new skills or shots or observing skilled players is a good start. Avoid the magazine lessons they may be medicine for some and poison for you. Besides, many within the same magazine issues can be contradictory of each other. Here is the time to consult a capable golf professional – especially one that is capable of communicating with you about not only how to hit the ball, but play the game. Unfortunately, my experience is that many instructors just talk, don't converse, and confine their offering to swinging and hitting. Your goal should be to learn to “play” the game.

12) Meditation/Prayer – Quiet yourself daily for ten to twenty minutes to consider what is important to you. When you honestly quiet your mental chatter and ego, you begin to discover that there is real genuine genius within all of us. You will soon discover that you are, indeed, your own best coach, and that you intuitively understand what is right and wrong for you. While your mind may often lie to you, your heart never will.

13) Creative “Other” Activities – Try other physical, mental, and social activities that might enhance your golf experience. They could be as far fetched as learning to dance or embracing a new language – you never know when a new contact, insight, or skill might expand your golf opportunities.

14) Selfless Service to Others – Golf is best played and enjoyed with a healthy, joyful soul. When we help others, we really help ourselves. Ask yourself how you can give or be of service to others. It can be as simple as giving a smile, really listening to someone, or charity of any sort.

Don't limit these suggestions to golf. Let them spill over into other areas of life and see what happens.

14 WAYS TO IMPROVE YOUR GOLF

RUM POINTE

7000 RUM POINTE LANE, BERLIN, MD 21811

"4 STAR PLACES TO PLAY" - GOLF DIGEST "RANKED #1 IN STATE" - GOLF ADVISOR

There was a time when the only reason people would drive down Route 611 out of Ocean City was to spend a tranquil day sunning themselves on Assateague Island. These days, golfers load up their vehicles with clubs and head that way not in search of more sandy beaches, but for greener pastures instead.

Indeed, Route 611 has become the resort area's golf highway and Rum Pointe Seaside Golf Links has become Ocean City's and Maryland's "must play" premier golf course. The layout, designed by world-renowned architect P.B. Dye, with a little bit of help from his dad Pete and Mother Nature, is an exciting 18-hole championship golf course set on the Sinepuxent Bay overlooking Assateague National Seashore.

This Scottish-style links opened in the spring of 1997 and features bentgrass on the fairways and greens. No less than 17 of the 18 holes have a spectacular bay view with several holes having direct bay frontage, where you can start your ball over the water to shorten the hole. This spectacular intricate seaside design was rated four stars in Golf Digest's Places to Play and named in the "Top 5 in Maryland" in Golfweek's America's Best by State.

Except for the first three holes on the back nine that take a detour into some wooded land on the property, Rum Pointe is exposed to the elements like the wind whipping off the bay. Of course, that also means killer views, which this venue certainly has plenty of.

With holes playing along the bay, the surroundings create a virtual links land-style atmosphere and the Dyes took heavy advantage of it and certainly created situations of risk and reward that will quicken the heart rate of even the most experienced golfer. The true strength of the design lies in its outstanding finishing stretch. These include the par-4 16th, the par-3 17th and the lake-lined 18th. From the back tees, this championship quality course is capable of hosting a PGA Tour stop, but forgiving enough from the middle tees to satisfy golfers of all skill levels. For the course to be even friendlier to the average golfers, we recommend that golfers with a higher handicap move up a set of tees or two, especially on those windy days along the coast.

Arrive early and warm up at Rum Pointe's fine practice facility and then go out for an exceptional day of golf.

"RUM POINTE IS ABSOLUTELY BEAUTIFUL AND WELL MAINTAINED WITH SPECTACULAR VIEWS. EVERYTHING ABOUT THE EXPERIENCE WAS TOP NOTCH. THE STAFF WELCOMED US & GAVE US GREAT INFORMATION ON THE COURSE AND WENT OUT OF THEIR WAY TO MAKE OUR DAY MEMORABLE."

CATHY G., SEPTEMBER 2021

GPS is provided on the golf carts to give you help every step of the way and cart covers are an added convenience. If you want to make your golf experience at Rum Pointe even more complete, stop by the Rum Pointe Grill either before or after a challenging day on these Scottish style links and enjoy a delicious meal with a friendly smile.

PAM'S PLAYING TIP

Because of the Links style of play at Rum Pointe, this course will favor your bump & run game. If it is a windy day, be sure to select the appropriate tees for your skill level, which in our experience would be teeing up one set closer.

"You guys are the best to deal with. I have already booked our 2022 trip. Everyone I have dealt with at Pam's has been great. They were very helpful, gave good advice, and met all of our needs. That is why I keep coming back to Pam's. We will always use Pam's as long as we keep coming to Ocean City to golf. We love the service that they provide. Thank you for your help."

Rich T., September 2021

"I have been doing business with Pam's for several years and they have always gone above and beyond. The Girls at Pam's have always been superb and very friendly. We will be back next year and have already picked our courses. As always, Pam's does an excellent job for us."

Darrin S., June 2021

"From the beginning to the end, Pam's was top notch!! The process was completely seamless. I am in the customer service industry as well, so it was such a much needed experience dealing with someone with exceptional people skills. This will now be a yearly tradition for our group and we will only use Pam's! Thank you again for the most pleasant trip we have had in a long time!"

Dave A., April 2021

"As usual, Pam's was absolutely awesome to deal with and set up a wonderful golf trip for us. Without a doubt, the best in the business."

Jeff G., June 2021

"WE STRIVE TO IMPROVE OUR GAME WITH EVERY GOLF TRIP WE ARRANGE!"

"My first trip with Pam's and I have only good things to say about the Girls. Everyone I spoke to was very knowledgeable and willing to help me with my trip. There were issues with me getting enough guys and they were very patient and helpful. Thanks to all of you girls, we had great weather and everyone in my group had a great time. I'm already planning on next year's trip."

Rich R., April 2021

"The Girls at Pam's did an outstanding job with our trip. As usually happens with our group, we have golfers that come for the week, specific days of the week and golf only. The Girls did an outstanding job in balancing the multiple arrangement requirements for the group. In addition, and for the first time, we had 2 golfers that needed to have their reservations cancelled due to medical conditions. This was handled seamlessly too. Our success with Pam's is never less than perfect and as we have come to expect, the trip was a success. We appreciate the work by Pam's to set up our package and be available for those times when we needed assistance. We look forward to working with Pam's next year. Again, the group thanks for your efforts."

John A., May 2021

"All the Girls at Pam's were friendly, knowledgeable and professional. This trip was an excellent value. We'll see you in the fall."

Dave J., April 2021

"Great Great Great!!! Thank you to the Girls at Pam's for continuing to elevate their game... Hit em' straight."

You'll Be Glad You Did!

Pam's Featured Group Leader

/ BY PETER EWEN

My group has booked with Pam's golf four consecutive years; and it keeps getting better every year! Not our golf scores so much, but the planning process is a breeze working with Pam's!

We are a group of eight fun-loving golfers based out of the Bethlehem, PA area. We've had group members travel on many buddy golf trips throughout the years including Myrtle Beach, Las Vegas, Pinehurst and Florida. Without a doubt--Ocean City, Maryland is PERFECT for us! Why? First of all, Ocean City is an easy 2 1/2-hour drive, yet it's a world away from our normal daily lives offering us a true vacation experience, the beach, the boardwalk, and the fun night life! Secondly, we all appreciate the fact that we don't have to deal with air travel and all those associated expenses!

How do you plan a golf trip for 8 buddies? Simple: "Call Pam's"!! Also, a quick search on the Pam's website will definitely get you started in the right direction. If you have a "per person" budget in mind; you will find that Pam's will be able to "crunch the numbers" regarding your golf course and hotel location preferences. You will find PLENTY of packages that include accommodations for 2 nights and 3 rounds in the $250 per player price range. Many packages will also include vouchers for meals, and even casino credits! You can certainly go higher, the sky's the limit!

Our group always stays in our favorite boardwalk hotel because we love being able to walk to so many fantastic bars & restaurants.

If you have a golf course or two in mind, let Pam's know; they are amazing at working your hotel preferences, golf course preferences and most importantly, your preferred tee times!! Nothing better than pulling up to a golf course, and telling the Pro Shop, "We booked through Pam's", and hitting the links!

A few of our favorite courses: Man O'War, War Admiral, River Run, and Baywood Greens. When we plan our trips, we always try to add in a new course or two, mixed in with a few old favorites! That's the beauty of Pam's: you can "mix and match" courses, preferred tee times, hotels, all according to your buddy's budget!

How do I pay? Pam's makes it SO EASY for each player to pay for their golf trip on-line and the best part is, as the group leader I get notified as to who has paid! There is no way they can make it any easier!

Also, if you enjoy really amazing fresh craft beer, and if time permits, try to make a pit stop" at Burley Oak Brewing Company in Berlin, MD. Wow! You won't be disappointed!

We have already booked our fifth golf trip for October 2022! WE CAN'T WAIT!

"I've booked two trips through Pam's. All the Girls have been wonderful and knowledgeable. The River Run Golf Villas were very nice & spacious and the prices there were out of sight. We've been to Myrtle Beach a whole bunch of times and it's much easier to get to Ocean City... 3 1/2 hours vs 11 hours of driving. There are fewer courses in OC but they are equally as pleasant and challenging. OC also offers lots of fantastic restaurants. For those from the NY/NJ area it's a home run!"
